This is a full list of the individuals who will appear on a rotating basis. Thus, not all authorized individuals will appear and use a laptop each day. Rather, Google expects that no more than three (3) individuals with laptops will be present in the courtroom each day.

Moreover, two (2) of these individuals will sit in the gallery (or the anterooms) and only one (1) will sit at counsel-table.

LIST OF USES

Google seeks to use multiple laptops during trial for the following purposes:

- Notetaking
- Accessing both sides' trial exhibits
- Accessing native files and large data sets
- Keeping track of admitted exhibits
- Keeping track of objections and excluded exhibits
- Accessing pleadings and other case file materials stored on the computer.

No internet connection will be used, and cameras will be masked or disabled.

Google seeks leave to have one (1) laptop at counsel table to facilitate the assertion of objections to trial exhibits and to access files and exhibits more quickly.
